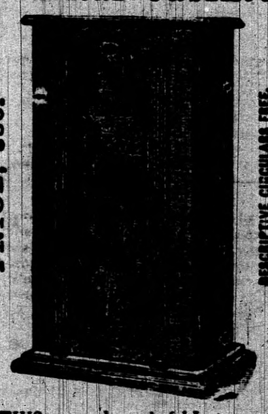
THE NEEDHAM
Musical Cabinet



THIS new and wonderful Instrument enables any one, whether understanding music or not to play any desired melody or harmony, sacred or secular, from the most plaintive dirge to the most lively dance music. It possesses a mechanism of marvelous simplicity, requiring but the intelligence of a child to manipulate, yet capable of reproducing, without limitation, the musical compositions of the PAST, PRESENT and FUTURE. The execution is faultless, strict in melody, harmony and rhythm, and the instrument is eminently adapted for Sunday Schools prayer and revival meetings, home devotional exercises, and in all cases where good, correct music is required, and no musician is at hand to perform. Disgraceful Business.

There has been secretly circulated through the mails without even postmarks an anonymous circular, libelous in its character, against Daniel F. Beatty of Washington, N. J., proprietor of the Beatty Piano and Beatty's celebrated Golden Tongue Parlor Organs.

It is supposed to have been done by competitors in the business, as none others would be to the trouble and expense, even if they had no fear of the punishment if detected, and the cause is attributed to the fact that Mr. Beatty has been making a very successful war upon high prices in these instruments.

We have received from Mr. Beatty the following open letter addressed to him by the officials and prominent men of his own town.

WASHINGTON, N. J., July 5, 1877.

To Daniel F. Beatty, Esq.:

It having come to our knowledge that communications written with an intent to falsify you and injure your business, have appeared in a certain periodical, we therefore, as citizens of this place—having known you for years—consider it an act of justice to you to pronounce all such communications to be entirely uncalled for and slanderous, and endorse you as being, so far as we have ever been able to judge, a man of sterling integrity and prompt in all your business transactions. Signed; Nathan Wilts, Mayor; Alpheus Babcock, G. A. Thatcher, Henry Winter, and Wm. E. Cummins, Councils; Joseph Vieit, Judge of the Court; James H. Groff, Vice President, and P. H. Hann, Cashier First National Bank; Rev. J. J. Reed, Pastor M. E. Church (acquainted but few months); J. V. Creveling, Jno. A. Shrope and John C. Winter, Justices of the Peace; John Gardner, Sheriff, and Richard B. Shaffer, Deputy Sheriff of Warren county; A. W. Creveling, General Merchant; Philip Johnston, late Assessor, and others.

I certify that I am acquainted with the hand writing of the above, and recognize all of them as genuine. The gentlemen are of our best citizens, and I fully concur in the letter.

OSCAR JEFFERY,
Counselor-at-Law and Notary Public.

We can hardly conceive of a more complete answer to such a libel than the above letter, but Mr. Beatty requests all interested to address him for full reply, and asks for information touching the parties circulating the libel if any can be obtained, with a view to their prosecution and punishment.

BEATTY'S ORGANS.—Having furnished one of Beatty's fine Parlor organs for the Heath House, Schooley Mountain, N. J., we are in receipt of an acknowledgement, under date of Thanksgiving day, in which Mrs. J. W. Coleman, wife of the host, says: "We are also thankful for the additional pleasure of all, in listening to the delightful tones of the beautiful organ that now ornaments our parlor, it having arrived just in time for the day. Our daughter is perfectly infatuated with it, and handles it very nicely. We were handsomely received by Mr. Beatty at his warerooms."—ALPINE CHRONICLE.

The Vale of Roses.

War has made the once beautiful Vale of Roses, and neighboring valleys south of the Shipka Pass, a desert filled with horrors. A correspondent of the London Times writes: "All the way from Shipka to Yeni Saghra, at which place we took the rail, the air is polluted with the remains of the killed. The bodies of men, women, and children are to be met with in all stages of decomposition at the roadsides, in the cornfields and gardens, on the banks of streams and in the beds of rivulets. Some hundreds were choking the shallow river within a quarter of a mile from where we camped at Yeni Saghra. Desolation and ruin appeared along the whole way. The remains of formerly prosperous villages, which it was impossible to pitch tent even near, rippling mountain streams in which our horses refused to drink, the howling of wolves around us at night, brought down from the mountains earlier than usual by the horrid feasts prepared for them (the largest I have ever seen lay dead, evidently recently shot, by the side of the road, not far from Yeni Saghra), and, worse, the occasional shrieks from human beings, followed by solitary rifle reports, which made one shudder more than the damp night air—all these sights and sounds went to form one great horrible phantasmagoria which none of us are likely to live long enough to remember without pain."

Female Society.

You know my opinion of female society. Without it we should degenerate into brutes. This observation applies with tenfold force to young men and those who are in the prime of manhood. For, after a certain time of life, the literary man may make a shift (a poor one I grant), to do without the society of ladies. To a young man nothing is so important as a spirit of devotion, next to his Creator, to some amiable woman, whose image may occupy his heart and serve to guard it from pollution, which besets it on all sides. A man ought to choose his wife, as Mrs. Primrose did her wedding gown, for qualities that "wear well." One thing, at least, is true, that if matrimony has its cares, celibacy has no pleasures. A Newton or a mere scholar may find employment in study; a man of literary taste can receive in books a powerful auxiliary; but a man must have a bosom friend and children round him to cherish and support the dreariness of old age.—John Randolph.

Intelligent Eels.

Says the Springfield (Mass.) Union: The oddest pets yet are some eels that a Mr. Hale is keeping in a brook near his house in Rockport, Mass. After he had fed them several times he observed that they seemed to be waiting for his visit, and with a little training they were induced to eat food directly from his hand. Then they learned to play and fondle about his fingers, held in the water, and enjoyed the caresses. More recently, the largest one of the four, a huge old fellow, two feet long and very large around, allows Mr. Hale to take him entirely out of the water, slide him about freely from hand to hand, apparently enjoying the novel gymnastics. When Mr. Hale goes to the brook he calls them with a peculiar whistle, and they soon come rushing briskly from down stream. Not long ago he brought them the usual lunch of fish and mackerel, when only the large one came. The eel waited a few moments, then turned down stream, and soon came back bringing his tardy family to supper. This shows there is no touch of the human in them, for any ordinary biped boarder would have pitched in without waiting, and cleared the table.

Battle-fields.

The battle-fields around Richmond are quiet meadows now, reclaimed by Nature, with few signs of the days of "blood and iron." At Cold Harbor, Fair Oaks, Seven Pines, and Malvern Hill, one sees little to remind him of the terrible scenes enacted there twelve and fifteen years ago. In the woods and on hillsides and river bluffs in the Peninsula, where no attempt has been made to cultivate the land, sloping earthworks are still to be seen, but elsewhere the entrenchments have been levelled. Below Petersburg there are few traces even of such formidable fortifications as Steadman, Hell and Damnation. The Crater and the fields around it are owned by Mr. Griffiths, who was born close by, and was in Petersburg when the mine was fired. He has built a house near the Crater, and now has his father's farm under excellent cultivation. The Crater itself has been left almost untouched, and a thick underbrush of peach trees and sprouts has sprung up from the pits thrown away by the soldiers during the siege. The ravine where the dead lay in great heaps on that terrible morning has been brought under the plow year after year, until now only a slight depression in the field can be pointed out. The visitor has to pay twenty-five cents for a glimpse of the Crater and the interior of a shed stocked with battle-relics.—New York Tribune.

A description is given of a paper carpet now made in England, and designed to imitate parquet flooring, the paper being printed in patterns to imitate different woods from photographs, so that, as it is stated, the resemblance is absolutely perfect. The floor is first prepared by being made perfectly level, and the crevices filled up with plaster of Paris; over the surface, as thus prepared, hession is stretched, and on this first lining paper, and then the patterned paper, and pasted, the whole being finished with a coating of a peculiar kind of varnish, described as wonderfully hard and wear resisting. This kind of carpeting can be kept perfectly clean with the greatest ease, and though the wear of paper carpeting may be thought problematical, the inventor states that he has had rooms covered with it for some sixteen months, without showing any appreciable signs of wear. Its appearance, also, is very satisfactory to the eye.

How is it that people can never see for themselves what is in the newspaper? You may bet your boots that if any one has occasion to write to a newspaper about something personal to himself he will commence—"Sir, my attention has been drawn," etc.

Enamored writing master (to a young lady pupil); "I can teach you nothing; your hand is already a very desirable one, and your I's are the most beautiful I have ever seen."

Torpedoes.

There is a very generally received, but erroneous notion that the torpedo is quite a recent invention, and that during the recent hostilities in the East it has been for the first time employed in actual warfare. That of late years torpedoes have been greatly improved is undoubtly a fact, but none the less is it true that the advantages to be gained by a judicious employment of submarine weapons of war have long been fully recognized, and, further, that these latter have been already largely used, and that with great effect, both for the defence of harbors, rivers, roadsteads, &c., and also for more actively offensive operations. As long ago as the 15th of August, 1777, a boat was blown to pieces and nearly all its crew killed by the accidental explosion of a torpedo which had been used in an attempt made by the Americans against the English man-of-war Cerebus. In 1805, a brig which had been anchored off Deal for the purpose of experimenting submarine explosions was destroyed, in the presence of Mr. Pitt and a large concourse of spectators, by a torpedo containing one hundred and seventy pounds of powder. Previously, in 1797, a machine had been designed by which, to use the inventor's own words, he proposed "to impart to carcases of gunpowder a progressive motion under water to a given point and there explode them," and which, therefore, contained the germ of the present locomotive or fish torpedo. In 1807 another vessel was blown to pieces in New York harbor; and, finally, to come to the employment of torpedoes in actual warfare, we find that no fewer than seven iron-clad vessels and eleven wooden ships of war were totally destroyed during the American civil war by submerged torpedoes.

Cost of Living 250 Years Ago.

Barber's History of New England, ed 1841, p. 175, says: "The expense of each planter to provision himself was quite small, if we may judge from an estimate furnished by Mr. Jooly for the information of proposed emigrants. A similar estimate had been previously made by Captain Smith (Pocahontas John) with reference to Virginia. He says: 'Victuals to last one man a year, 8 bushels of meal, £2; 2 bushels of peas, 9s.; 2 bushels of oatmeal, 9; 1 gallon of aqua vitæ (brandy), 2s 6d.; 1 gallon of oil, 3s. 6d.; 2 gallons of vinegar, 2s.;" total £3 8s., equal to $14. (!) Who has the courage to talk about economy after such an exhibit of the cash cost to live 250 years ago? Not a word said about tea, coffee, sugar, molasses, flour, butter, pork, beef, fish, milk, beans and tobacco, without which last many people couldn't live a week—at least they think so. Is there a criminal in the land, or on the globe, kept on the above square diet? The brandy must have been a very modest article at 56 cents a gallon; one dram a week, and the same of oil. It is a curious scrap of history and a sample of very intense economy. Boston Herald.

The high legal office of master of the rolls in England is filled to-day by a very able Hebrew lawyer, Sir George Jessell, who has announced his determination to put a stop to prolix pleading. The learned judge proposes to do this by imposing costs on the suitor; some of his predecessors on the chancery bench found it more effectual to impose costs on the prolix pleader. It may be remembered, reports the Solicitor's Journal, that last year, on an application to strike out a statement of claim containing sixty-four paragraphs, and occupying eighteen pages, counsel cited the case of Willyard vs. Woldon in 1596, in which the decree stated that the replication "doth amount to six score sheets of paper, and yet all the matter thereof which is pertinent might have been well contained in sixteen sheets of paper," and on the court finding that the plaintiff himself had drawn the replication, it ordered him to walk round Westminster hall wearing the replication as a cloak, with the written side outward, and to pay a fine of £10.

Mountain Climbing.

The greatest altitude which has been reached by mountain-climbers was attained in Cashmere by Mr. Johnson, who some years ago mounted to a spot 22,300 feet above the sea. Aeronauts have ascended 30,000 feet and returned in safety. It is supposed by mountaineers that 25,000 or 26,000 feet is the utmost height that will ever be trod by human steps. That life can be supported at this altitude has been proved by the adventurers who have dared the dangers of the upper air in a balloon. During the last summer M. Wiener ascended Mount Illimani, one of the loftiest peaks of the Bolivian Andes. The height of this mountain has been variously estimated, Mr. Pentland giving it at an altitude of 24,200 feet; Mr. Minchin setting it at 21,224 feet, and Mr. Wiener himself making it to be only 20,112. Few ascents to the height of 21,000 feet have been recorded. Hunters on the Himalayas often chase their game to the height of 20,000 feet, and natives living near Mount Demarend, near Teheran, frequently climb to the summit, above 20,000 feet, to gather sulphur from the crater.—Washington Star.

Hunting the Sea-Otter in Alaska.

The sea-otter, which constitutes the sole means by which these, the only civilized people of our new Territory, manage to clothe themselves now as we do and maintain their church, may be appropriately mentioned in detail. It is an animal, when full grown, that will measure from three and a half to four feet at most from the tip of its short tail to its nose. The general contour of the body is much like that of the beaver, with the skin lying in loose folds, so that, when taken hold of in lifting the body out from the water, it draws up like the hide on the nape of a young puppy dog. The skin is covered with the richest of all furs deep fur, a jet black, with silver-tipped hairs here and there scattered, as is so well known to our ladies of fashion.

The sea-otter mother sleeps in the water on her back, with her young one clasped between her tiny forepaws. Frequent attempts have been made to rear the young sea-otters, as they are often captured alive; but, like some other species of wild animals, they seem to be so deeply imbued with fear of man, they invariably perish by self-imposed starvation.

THE CHRONICLE.

LEGISLATIVE.

We have compiled the following from the Sacramento Record Union.

The following bills have been introduced in the Assembly:

An Act to protect the rights of married women. Section 172 of the Civil Code is amended so as to read as follows: The husband has the management and control of the community property, with the like absolute power of disposition as he has of his separate estate, except that the husband and wife must join in any conveyance or incumbrance affecting real estate.

To amend the Penal Code, as to challenges to individual Grand Jurors.

To make the altering of marks and brands a misdemeanor instead of felony.

To increase remuneration of Trustees under sanction of District Courts in certain cases, as where the original instrument provides an amount too small.

Relative to County Boards of Examination, who shall meet but twice a year instead of four times as now.

To provide that where one owns high lands along the bank of a stream he shall not make cuts through it by which lands owned by others back of it can be overflowed.

To regulate the issuance of shares of stock in incorporated companies in California. Provides that all certificates of stock must be in the name of the real owner.

In regard to receipts given by Assessors to taxpayers.

Relative to recording letters patent from the United States. Enables those who have obtained letters patent from the United States or the State of California, executed and authenticated pursuant to existing laws, to have the same recorded without acknowledgment or further proof, and if the original patent be lost to procure a certified copy and have the same recorded.

To protect stockholders and persons dealing with corporations in this State. Prevents any person from making representations or exaggerated statements for the purpose of affecting the value of stocks, and provides a penalty of imprisonment, either in the State Prison or the County Jail.

To prevent imposition from being practiced on settlers by fraudulent publications. Provides a punishment for persons advertising false representations concerning the ownership and sale of lands.

In reference to liens for services. Provides for livery, boarding or feed stable proprietors or farmers having a lien upon stock or horses kept or boarded or pastured for payment thereof.

Relative to the publication of newspapers. Provides that newspapers must be printed and the work done upon them either in whole or in part in the county where they purport to be published.

An act to appoint guardians for habitual drunkards. Provides for a trial of the person in the County or District Court and for the appointment of a guardian, and also provides a penalty for persons supplying the person so convicted with liquor.

Authorizes the County Boards of Examiners to renew first class teachers certificates, without re examinations, upon the application of persons who have held them for two years.

By Mr. Nott—An Act to prevent the spread of glanders among horses and to punish the sale or barter of horses affected with glanders.

With respect to the sale of personal property. Amends section 3,001, so as to provide that if the debtor is not living a notice may be served on his legal representative.

Relative to depositinos of material witnesses.

An Act to prevent buck goats running at large.

In relation to delinquent taxes and the settlement of County Treasures with the Controller of State. Defines what shall be done with the 5 per cent. additional for delinquent taxes; also, defines the manner of keeping accounts of county Treasurers with Controller of State; also, the manner of making reports to Controller; also, leaves it discretionary with Controller to require Treasurers of counties to make semi annual settlements when they have no money to pay into the State Treasury.

By Mr. Nott—An Act authorizing a tax for the payment of grand and trial jurors in the county of Alpine.

An Act to prevent extortion by telegraph companies and to regulate their charges. Provides that telegraph companies shall only charge as follows: For the first ten words; to any point in the State 25 cents; for each additional ten words, 5 cents—and makes it a misdemeanor to charge, collect or receive any more.

Also, an Act to amend section 3,766 of the Political Code, relative to the publication of delinquent tax lists. Leaves the matter of advertising delinquent tax lists in counties of 10,000 inhabitants and under to either post the list or advertise in newspaper.

To provide that when notice of appeal is given in Justices' Courts the Judge, in addition to his own fees, may at the same time assess and collect Constable's fees.

An Act to relieve the estates of deceased parties from costs of Probate Court when below the value of $1,500.

Mr. Nott has introduced a bill to prohibit the gambling game known as the wheel game.

Mrs. Bowers, relict of Sandy Bowers, who was once the richest man in Nevada, is telling fortunes for a living in Virginia City. She has been reduced to penury and want.

Clarence W. Upton, Assemblyman from Santa Clara county, died at Santa Clara on Tuesday evening.

The House, by a strict party vote, has unseated Pacheco. This is justice!

The storms this week have extended all over the State, and the farmers have cause for rejoicing. In the San Joaquin valley, where the crops were a total failure last year, the harvest this year promises to be immense, and such is the prospect throughout the State. The miners have much to be thankful for, also.—Our mountains have been well covered with snow, insuring an abundant supply of water for mining purposes next Summer. The coming Summer will undoubtedly be a prosperous one for our State.

Forty thousand bids have been received for carrying mails during the next four years in nearly all that portion of the United States lying west of the Mississippi river and extending to the Pacific ocean. Awards will be made by March 30th.

DEATH OF THE POPE—The Pope died at 4:57 Thursday afternoon. The Conclave would be called together immediately to elect his successor. It is thought that Cardinal Bello will be the new Pope.

Captain Tinklepaugh, long known to California travelers as a steamer commander between New York and Aspinwall, died recently of pneumonia aged 68 years.

The Parent of Insomnia.

The parent of insomnia of wakefulness is in nine cases out of ten a dyspeptic stomach. Good digestion gives sound sleep. Indigestion interferes with it. The brain and stomach sympathize. One of the prominent symptoms of a weak state of the gastric organs is a disturbance of great nerve entrepot, the brain. Invigorate the stomach, and you restore equilibrium to the great center. A most reliable medicine for the purpose is Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, which is far preferable to mineral sedatives and powerful narcotics which, though they may for a time exert a soporific influence upon the brain, soon cease to act, and invariably injure the tone of the stomach. The Bitters, on the contrary, restore activity to the operations of that all important organ, and their beneficent influence is reflected in sound sleep and a tranquil state of the nervous system. A wholesome impetus is likewise given to the liver and bowels by its use.

BEATTY'S PIANOS AND ORGANS

WASHINGTON, NEW JERSEY.

Beatty's Pianos, grand, square and upright, are pronounced by the press and the people as the most beautiful and sweetest toned Pianos ever manufactured.—Sent on test trial and pronounced the best in the world. Beatty's celebrated Golden Tongue Parlor Organ. Any manufacturer challenged to equal them. They possess power, depth, brilliancy and sympathetic delicacy, exquisitely beautiful sole effects, and the only stop action ever invented that cannot be disarranged by use. The bellows capacity is so great that but little effort is required with the feet to supply all the air necessary. Best made and most elegant cases in the market. All solid wood ornaments. Every instrument fully warranted for six years strictly first-class, and sent on from 5 to 15 days test trial. Address, DANIEL F. BEATTY, Washington, New Jersey. je30-1y

COPP'S HAND BOOK OF MINING LAWS,

JUST PUBLISHED.

A work needed by every Miner, Prospector, Speculator, Agent, Attorney, Recorder, Broker, and Business man in the Mining States and Territories.

Price only $1 00. Price only $1 00.

A COMPLETE, HANDY REFERENCE Book on all questions under the United States Mining Laws. The latest reliable work extant on the subject.

READ ITS CONTENTS AND SEND FOR A COPY.

ALL YOUR ENTERPRISING NEIGHBORS WILL HAVE IT.

CONTENTS.

1. The United States Mining Laws and Land Office instructions thereunder. Each section of the law is immediately followed by the Land Office instructions relating thereto. This is a convenient arrangement as it avoids turning several pages when the instructions are considered in connection with the law.

2. A Digest of all the decisions under the Mining Laws now in force. It is brought down to date of publication, and containing the latest decisions, takes the place of all prior publications.

3. New and Improved Forms for making the various proofs from the location of a claim, miner's lien, notice to delinquents co-owners, &c., down to issuance of patent.

4. A Complete List of Patented Mining Claims, arranged by state, Territory, County, and District. This list is worth to mining men many times the price of the book

The book contains nearly 200 pages 4½ by 6 inches, and is designed to be a pocket companion for every wide-awake man in the mining camps and financial centers of the West. The work is for sale at the BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.—The Board met at 1 o'clock P. M. on Monday, February 4, 1878.

Present, Merrill, Chairman, and Love.

Minutes of last meeting read and approved,

A. M. Grover, Assessor	150 00
John Cronkite, Treasurer	150 00
L. M. Buel, postage	10 00
L. M. Buel, Clerk and Auditor	233 33
D. B. Hawkins, desk and stool	7 50
R. M. & A. C. Folger, advertising	75 00
H. S. Crocker & Co., blanks, etc	45 58
John C. Cox, Clerk of Election	8 00
P. Curtz, Coroners fees	21 00
Curtz & Griffith, lumber for Court House	6 86
R. Snodgrass, Judge of Election	8 00
W. B. Lower, Clerk of Election	4 05

W. P. Merrill, Supervisor	8 50
R. K. Love, Supervisor	11 60
W. A. Johnson, balance due on vault	80 00

On petition Peter Curtx was appointed District Attorney vice Thomas J. Organ, deceased.

On petition Joseph W. Harvey, of Markleeville, and John E. Johns, of Woodfords, were appointed Justices of the Peace.

Proposal of R. M. & A. C. Folger to do the county advertising, except tax sales, for the ensuing year, was accepted.

The Board then adjourned.

JUST.—Assemblyman Nott has introduced a bill to provide for the payment of grand and trial jurors in this county. This is a just measure and we hope Mr. Nott will secure its early passage. It has been a great hardship on our people to be compelled to attend Court as jurors, pay their own expenses and take scrip worth 25 cents on the dollar.

NATURALIZED.—On Monday last, in the County Court Judge Griffith admitted to citizenship: John Peterson, a native of Denmark, Henry Noddenreip and Fred. Brons. Some of these gentlemen had been admitted before, but there seems to have been some flaw in the former proceedings.

SOCIAL.—A large party of ladies and gentlemen from Monitor took our quiet town by surprise last evening and an impromptu dance was gotten up at Occidental Hall, and continued till daylight A toothsome supper was spread at the Alpine House at midnight. It was a social affair, and such as tend to create a good feeling between sister towns.

THE TWENTY SECOND.—A ball will be given at Silver Mountain on Washington's Birthday. We understand that the ladies will prepare the supper, so that there shall be no charge for tickets to the ball. Our people are determined to enjoy themselves this Winter, and dance dull care away.

ARRIVED SAFE.—Manager Chalmers, of the Exchequer Company, arrived safe in England about the 15th January. We are in hopes he will soon arrange matters with a view to the extinguishment of its liabilities here, and that work will soon be resumed.

HEAVY WEATHER.—On Monday heavy snow storm set in here about noon and continued with much fury till late in the evening. It has snowed nearly every day this week. The depth of the "beautiful" on our streets is about 30 inches.

MONEY DRIFT.—On Monday last the Board of Supervisors allowed bills to the amount of about $1,200.

THE CHRONICLE.

THE HOUSEKEEPER.

STEWED BEET.—Bake or boil it tolerably tender, and let it remain until it is cold, then pare and cut into slices; heat and stew it for a time in some good pale veal gravy (or in strong veal broth for ordinary occasions); thicken this with a teaspoonful of arrow-root, and half a gill or more of good cream, and stir in, as it is taken from the fire, from a teaspoonful to a tablespoonful of vinegar. The beet may be served likewise in thick white sauce, to which, just before it is dished, mild pickles may be added.

CRAB-APPLE FRITTERS.—Make a batter with three eggs, a quantity of flour and enough sweet milk to make it thick enough to fry well. Add a pinch of salt and a quantity of crab-apples, cut in slices, with the skins on. Fry in very hot lard, by dropping a large spoonful in it. Serve with powdered white or maple sugar.

TO DRESS EGG-PLANT.—Take as many egg-plants as the size of your family requires; pare, quarter, and boil them till soft enough to mash like turnips. Mash them, add a little bread-crumb soaked in milk, butter, chopped parsley, an onion boiled and mashed, some butter, pepper and salt. Mix these well together, and pour it into a baking-dish; cover the top with grated bread, and bake it for half an hour.

SILVER CAKE.—Three cups of sifted flour, one and a half of sugar, one egg, one teacup of sweet milk, two tablespoonfuls of butter, three tablespoonfuls of yeast-powder. Flavor with vanilla or lemon to taste. Beat the butter and sugar to a cream, add to it the milk and egg, well beaten, then add the extract. Mix with this, very slow, three cups of flour in which the baking-powder has been well mixed. Bake in a quick oven.

CRAB-APPLES AND RICE.—Core and pare as many apples as will fill a pudding-dish, and stew them so that they are nearly soft. Sweeten well. Boil half a teacupful of well-washed rice until nearly soft, then add salt to taste, and a teacupful of milk. Place the apples, flavored with lemon or ginger, into a pudding dish, and turn the rice over them. Bake until it is a handsome brown. Serve with cream and sugar.

BROILED SALMON.—Slices from a fresh salmon, well-scaled, cleansed, and wiped; two ounces of butter melted, one teaspoonful of flour, one saltspoonful of salt. Melt the butter smoothly, thicken it with flour, add the salt, and roll the salmon well in it; make a very clear fire; take a perfectly clean gridiron, and broil carefully. Time, ten minutes.

GREEN TOMATO PICKLE.—Slice one peck of green tomatoes; dissolve one pint of salt in water enough to cover them; let them soak over night; then rinse in clear water, and drain. Take one gallon of cider vinegar, three pounds of brown sugar, cloves, allspice, cinnamon to your taste, and boil slowly for half an hour.

ITALIAN ICE-CREAM.—To one quart of fresh cream add two cups of powdered sugar, the juice and grated peel of two lemons; beat in the lemons very slowly so as not to curdle the cream; add two tablespoonfuls of brandy, and freeze in a patent freezer or by turning quickly; open the freezer twice during the operation, to scrape the frozen cream from the sides and stir the contents smooth; use rock salt; have the ice broken up fine; put the freezer in the tub first; pack around it first salt, then a layer of ice; use almost as much salt as ice, and have the top layer of ice; this should cover over the top of the freezer; be very careful in removing the cover of the freezer not to let the salt or brine run in; always wipe it carefully before moving. If the cream is to be moulded into fancy shapes, it must be almost all frozen first, then pack it in tight moulds, and repack it in ice and salt; let it remain two or three hours, as the ice melts run off the water, shove down the ice, and fill up with more ice and salt. To remove the fancy shapes from the mould first plunge them quickly in boiling water to prevent sticking.

Cooks of a Past Age.

In these days cookery is a very general topic, but its literary pretensions do not by any means come up to the standard of the last century. The cookery of the eighteenth century occupied a different social position from that of our own time. Ladies now learn to cook for the sake of their social inferiors; their aim is to reform the bungling incapacity of the laboring classes, and put them in the way of making wholesome, appetizing messes at the least cost and waste—a benevolent endeavor to which we wish all success. A hundred and fifty years ago the fare of the poorer classes was pretty well settled in people's minds.

"Bacon, beans, salt beef, and cabbage" formed the ideal of plenty with all concerned, farmer and laborer, mistress of the family, and pastoral poet. Invention, ingenuity, taste, were all exercised in another field—the high table—and that with more aim and intention than now. In our day, if the cooking is good, the main object is attained; but formerly the eye and fancy had their claims. There was a poetry, such as it was, in the old dishes, which our present system discourages. They had to look tempting, to provoke inquiry, interest, and expectation. At a modern dinner-table the eye looks on flowers; but it may be suspected that the dishes from which our portion is cut behind our backs wants the graces, the art of adornment and setting-off, that were once deemed essential. The sideboard furnishes no theatre for the picturesque in this department of art, no triumphs for the eye; nor, again, for those innocent frauds—dearer, we suspect, like all enigmas, to the inventor than to those practised upon, but yet not unregretted for the artist's sake, as a lawful diversion incident to his calling—wherein the subject matter underwent a transformation, and the taste and sight of the eater were at odds till the puzzle was found out. As where "pig" was dressed to look like lamb, "lamb to eat like pig," and "pike to eat like sturgeon;" where mincemeat, pressed into a mould and cunningly stained with herbs, put on the semblance of melon; where veal was stuffed into the skins of fishes, and fried parsnips were shaped into a likeness of trout. What artist of our day, we wonder, could perform this last malicious feat? But river fish in those days were important, and deemed worthy of imitation, exercising a good deal of the cook's thought and skill.—Saturday Review.

Nothing is more easy than to grow rich. It is only to trust nobody, to befriend none—to get all you can and save all you get—to start yourself and everybody belonging to you—to be the friend of no man, and have no man for your friend—to help interest upon interest, cent upon cent—to be mean, miserable, and despised for some twenty or thirty years—and riches will come as sure as disease and disappointment. And when pretty nearly enough wealth is collected, by a disregard of all the charities of the human heart and at the expense of every enjoyment, death comes to finish the work—the body is buried in a hole, the heirs dance over it, and the spirit goes—whence?

A prudent man is like a pin. His head prevents him from going too far.

SCHOOL TEACHERS: You can easily increase your salary by devoting a very small portion of your leisure time to my interest. I do not expect you to canvass for my celebrated Beatty Pianos and Organs unless you see fit to; but the service I require of you is both pleasant and profitable. Full particulars free. Address, DANIEL F. BEATTY, Washington, New Jersey. je30-1y

DANIEL F. BEATTY'S

PARLOR ORGANS.

These remarkable instruments possess capacities for musical effects and expression never before obtained, adapted for Amateur and Professional, and an ornament in any parlor. Excel in quality of Tone, Thorough Workmanship, Elegant Designs and Finish, and wonderful variety of their combination stops. Every Instrument fully warranted for six years as strictly first-class in every respect, and as a guarantee they are shipped on from five to fifteen days' test trial, money refunded and freight charges paid both ways by me if they are misrepresented or in any way prove unsatisfactory. No such offer has ever been made. Beware of imitations. Agents wanted, but where I have none, large discounts made to introduce in new localities. Send for Illustrated ADVERTISER, containing long lists of testimonials from well-known persons, some of whom you may know, classified by States, with Post-offices annexed, that all may enquire direct of them. Address, DANIEL F. BEATTY, Washington, New Jersey. je30
